A Letter from the Editor

lear Reader,

The 1994 Halcyon continues the long-standing tradition of professional and memorable yearbooks produced by students of Swarthmore College. The largest student publication on campus, it had an operating budget of nearly $$ 50,000$. As editor-in-chief of the 1994 Halcyon, I wrote the text and did most of the photographic layouts contained within these pages.

Still, I could not have completed the 1994 Halcyon without the help of several people and I would like to thank them for their contributions: Laura Dattner (Assistant Editor-In-Chief) shared her technical expertise and offered editorial advice regarding copy and layout. Jen Romish volunteered her time and did several layouts for the senior informal section. Emily Mindel supplied the Halcyon with her excellent sports photographs. I would also like to thank the Halcyon staff photographers including Margaret Cohen & Fred Johnson and business managers Amy Cuthrell & Heather Bitch. Tanya Wiggins ran errands, made phone calls, mailed photographs and gathered photographs for the sports section. Extra special thanks to Alison McKenzie, who sorted through photographs, contributed to the senior formals and faculty layouts, and bolstered my spirits.

I would also like to extend my sincere gratitude to Dean Bob Gross, Rose Smith, the Publications Office, Jane Mullins in the Registrar's Office, Herff Jones Publishers, and Mike Durinzi of Carl Wolf Studios. I want to especially thank my faculty advisor Susan Smythe and Mike Gilroy and Pat Willis of Gilroy & Associates for their faith and patience.

I would like to thank my mother, Ellen Fields Utley, for supporting me in this endeavor just as she has in every other.

Finally, I want to bid farewell to my friends in the Class of 1994. I dedicate this book to them.
And to all the readers, thank you for your patronage.
Sincerely,

Robert J. Utley, Editor-in-Chief

Men's Soccer

The men's soccer team had a fantastic fall season concluding with an overall record of 11-5-2. The Garnet demonstrated offensive and defensive balance as they scored three or more goals in all but four games and held opponents to two goals or less in all but two games. In the final two games of the season, the Garnet scored twelve goals.
Nate Fairman led the team in scoring with eight goals. Jay Rose and Kenrick Cato each scored six goals. Len Cuello (5 goals, 7 assists) and Jeff Nebelsieck ( 4 goals, 7 assists) also played integral roles. ## Women's Soccer

The women's soccer team put together a solid season, compiling a 6-14 overall record. The team jumped out to a blazing start and won their first three games. However, they were not as fortunate against conference opponents.

Madeline Fraser was the team's offensive catalyst. Her 31 points ( 13 goals, 5 assists) led the team. Fraser scored at least one point via goal or assist in 11 of the 14 games in which Swarthmore scored a goal. Rachael Johnson (5 goals, 4 assists), Bess O'Neill (2 goals, 5 assists), and Miriam Marx (2 goals, 4 assists) contributed to the offens.

Four goalkeepers split time for the Garnet this season with Mary Catherine Arbour receiving the bulk of the minutes. Arbour maintained a 84.8 save percentage in 13 games. The women's team looks forward to a strong 1995 campaign as Fraser, Johnson O'Neill, and Arbour will all be returning.

Field Hockey

II

The field hockey team had a great season this fall. They went 13-7 and had two four-game winning streaks. Season highlights included an 8-0 victory against Vassar in the Seven Sisters tournament and an 8-1 victory against Philadelphia Textile.

Melissa Bonder (26 goals, 9 assists) and Lia Ernst (2 goals, 21 assists) made for a powerful one-two punch. Kristen Osborne ( 8 goals, 7 assists) and Samantha Peltz ( 7 goals, 1 assist) rounded out the offensive firepower.

Defensively, Liza Dadone ( 90.7 save percentage) and Heather Ritch (87.3) split the goaltending chores. Each was effective as the team shut out opponents seven times.

Men's Rugby

Women's Rugby

With tri-captains Val Casey '94, Meredith Collins '95, and Kar-yee Wu '94 leading the way, the badminton team finished their 1994 season with an 8-2 record. Their strong season was due in part to excellent play by three firstyear students: Thanh Hoang, Norma Nangju, and Vanya Tepavcevic.

Hoang reached the semifinals and the finals of the MidAtlantic Classic and the Philadelphia Invitational respectively. She also reached the singles semifinals and the mixed doubles semifinals (with Jeff Switzer '94) at the Northeastern Intercollegiate Tournament. Switzer won the men's singles event at the tournament.

Sports• 19

Men's basketball finished with a record of 6-18 (3-10 in the Centennial Conference). The Garnet started quickly as they got off to a 3-0 start but struggled as the season progressed. Seniors Brett Fenster, Corey Mulloy, and Greg Nini provided strong leadership to complement the contributions of Kirk Daulerio '95. Daulerio, an honorable mention selection to the All-Centennial team, led the team in both scoring ( 15.0 ppg ) and rebounding ( 7.8 rpg).

Swimming

Under the leadership of captain Dave Helgerson '94, the men's team had a record-breaking season. Despite the team's 3-9 overall record, there were several outstanding individual performances.

Kendrew Witt '96 became the Centennial Conference champion and set College and conference records in the 100 - and 200-yard breast stroke. Jason Greenwood established a new College record in the 100-yard individual medley. The 200 - and 400 -yard medley relay teams also set new Swarthmore records.
Co-captains Jenny Diamond '94 and Kate Moran '94 guided the women's team to a strong 6-7 overall record. Before one particularly tough stretch during the season, the women had won five of their first seven matches.

Skye Fulkerson '96 was the team's most valuable swimmer. At this year's Centennial Conference Championships, Fulkerson set College and conference records as she won the 100-yard breaststroke. Her time was also good enough to qualify her for the Division III National Championships.

Wrestling

This year's squad wrestled to a 3-7 overall record (1-2 in the Centennial Conference). Among the team's highlights were victories against Baptist Bible College, LaSalle, and Hood Trophy rival Haverford. The team benefitted from individual performances by Alan Bennett, Mike Madden, Chaz Teplin and Eric Williams.

Williams was named Centennial Conference Outstanding Wrestler after his showing at the conference championships. In the finals, he defeated Muhlenberg wrestler Tom Gulick, who had been undefeated during the last two years. Williams was also one of 66 wrestlers chosen as NCAA Division III Scholar All-Americans.
 Overall Record: 3-9

It was a rebuilding year for the Garnet nine. After losing eight starters from the 1993 team to graduation, the team was due for changes. The 1994 Garnet lacked experience but developed throughout the season. Though they finished with only five wins in 33 contest, the Garnet earned two of those victories in their final three games.

Frank Santora led the team in hitting (.309), runs scored (27), and total bases (47). Co-captain Bob Mascia led the Garnet in triples (3), runs batted in (25), and stolen bases (14). Co-captain Todd Kim chipped in with a .305 batting average and Darius Tandon led the team in home runs (2).

On the mound, Kirk Daulerio contributed by collecting a 2.67 ERA in eight games. Chuck Hudson was the team's most effective pitcher as he led the team in nearly all pitching categories.

The men's lacrosse team and their new coach Zack Colburn faced some tough times this season. They finished with an over-all record of 2-14, earning wins against St. Joe's and Widener. The team's offensive leaders were Brian Dougherty '95 (19 goals, 13 assists) and Ben Seigel '96 (19 goals, seven assists). Erik Griffin, Andy Place, and Cooper Richey also had strong seasons.

Women's

It was a banner year for the women's lacrosse team. Guided by the Pennsylvania Region Coach of the Year, Karen Yo-hannon-Borbee, the team had its most successful season ever. With an overall record of 12-4 at season's end, the Garnet was ranked 13th in the nation by the Brine/IWLCA coaches' poll.

Several women played key roles in the Garnet's success. Julie Noyes '95 led the Garnet offense in goals scored. Her 107 goals set College and national single-season scoring records. Noyes earned first-team All-Centennial honors and was named as a national All-American by both Brine/IWLCA and the United Staes Women's Lacrosse Association. Among her season highlights was a 10 -goal performance at Washington College in the season opener.

Madeline Fraser '95 was also named to the first unit of the All-Centennial team. Lia Ernst ' 97 received honorable mention in the polling for the Pennsylvania regional All-American team. Ernst and Heather Maloney '95 were both second-team All-Centennial selections.

Men's Tennis

The men's tennis team finished the 1994 season with an overall record of 6-10. Despite the low win total, the team recorded "good wins" over Rochester, Skidmore, MIT and SUNY Binghamton and nearly won two close matches at Amherst and Williams. A usual fixture in the NCAA Division III Tournament, the squad did not qualify this season for only the first time in 19 years. The team ranked fourth in the NCAA Northeast region and 18 th in the nation.

Barry Mook '96 registered a mark of 8-15 in No. 1 singles play. George Khalaf '96, winner of this year's Rolex Tournament, compiled a record of 13-12 at No. 2 singles. The No. 1 doubles team of Brandt Lincoln '95 and Vijay Toke '96 finished with a record of 5-12.

Women's Tennis

The women's tennis team guided by new coach Dan Sears, finished with a 3-13 record (2-8 in the Centennial Conference). The team netted victories against Averett, longtime rival Bryn Mawr, and Western Maryland. No. 1 singles player Becky Katz led the women's team with a record of 6-8. The team looks forward to the return of Kim Crusey ' 95 , who played at No. 1 singles in 1992 and 1993. Crusey spent the spring semester studying in Spain and will return to the women's team in 1995.

Track and Field

Both the men's and women's teams experienced success during the indoor season. The men finished third and the women finished fifth at the Centennial Conference Championships this past winter.

Scott Reents ' 96 placed third in both the 1,500-meter and 5,000-meter races. His time in the 5,000 set a new College record. Eric Pakurar ' 97 finished second in the triple jump and fourth in the 400-meter dash. Sam Paschel '96 finished third in the long jump and team captain Mike Vagner '94 came in fourth in the shot put.

Tina Shepardson '94 and Megan Cunningham ' 95 took first place in the triple jump and the 800 -meters respectively. Joanna Vondrasek '94 contributed with a third-place finish in the long jump and a fourth-place finish in the high jump.

The success of the track athletes continued into the spring. The men's outdoor team earned sixth-place honors at this spring's conference championships while the women placed fourth.

The men's season was highlighted by performances from Reents, Pakurar, and Mike Turner '96. In the meet against Haverford, Reents' 15:03 in the 500-meters was three seconds shy of the Swarthmore College record. Still, his efforts qualified him for this year's Penn Relays. Pakurar capped an outstanding first season by earning a second-place finish in the 400 -meter hurdles at the championships including victories in the 100 - and 200 -meter races, Turner was a member of the winning $4 \times 100$ and $4 \times 400$ relay teams.

The women's outdoor team finished fourth at this spring's championships. This year's team included an NCAA National Championship qualifier, an MAC champion, and a record-setting $4 \times 400$ relay team.

Kate Dempsey '95 qualified for the NCAA nationals on the strength of a 2:15.88 time in the 800 meters. Her time set a new College record. Shepardson shattered her own College record to become the MAC conference champion in the triple jump.

The $4 \times 400$ relay team of Dempsey, Shepardson, Cunningham, and Jill Wildonger ' 97 placed second at the 100th anniversary of the annual Penn Relays. Their silvermedal performance made school history as the quartet became the first Swarthmore women to earn medals at this prestigious event.

Don't want to wake up because you're thinking about the work day ahead? Are your days and nights spent studying, studying, and lest we forget, studying? Is your idea of a party the 9:00 rush at Mccabe? It's not easy being the hardest-working students in America, but keep your chin up. A look into Swat's lighter and brighter side is coming up next...

o what is Swat Life anyway? It's singing, dancing, and praying. It's going down to a club in Philly or downing a club sandwich in Essie Mae's. For some it's performing a little bit of MAGIC for kids. For other, it's just having a swell time (or is that a SWIL time?) reading science fiction. With activities ranging from journalism to fencing, students can either find their niche in an existing club or create their own. Of course, some Swatties choose a more relaxed approach preferring to hang out in their rooms or simply catch up on-much-needed sleep.

Where on campus can you eat and get Screwed? In the Big Room at Sharples, of course! A long standing tradition, Screw Your Roommate Day is Swarthmore College's annual tribute to love. One February night, most diligent students took time out to participate in a campus-wide blind date.

Students met their dates for the first time by performing amusing and often embarrassing stunts and skits. With blindfolds and creatively arranged whitt sheets among the most popular fashions, Swatties turned out in force. And with Dean Bob Gross as a guest matchmaker, the evening was a huge success.

tudent Council is the governing body at Swarthmore College. The Council's goal is to articulate and act upon the needs of the general student population. This is done through the various positions in the Council such as those which represent the Board of Managers, the Curriculum Committee, and students at large. This year's Council was extremely active as their agenda included worked on Dining Hall policy, discrimination issues and housing concerns.

Old Club Management

The Old Club fulfills a critical function in the Swarthmore social scene. A three-story building near the edge of the campus, the Old Club is a frequent site for parties. Partygoers either congregate in the basement level where beverages are served by student bartenders or dance on one of the upper two floors. For dance parties, student DJ's play music ranging from hip-hop to early 80's to alternative. This year, the students directors of the Old Club diversified its scheduled activities by booking several moderately famous musical groups and local bands for weekend concerts.

Swarthmore Christian Fellowship

Swarthmore Christian Fellowship is a nondenominational community of students committed to following the teachings of Jesus Christ, SCF is affiliated with the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship. Members study God's word, sing, pray, play games, and invite guest speakers to discuss issues of Christian faith.

WSRN 91.5 FM

WSRN is the 100 -watt non-commercial FM stereo radio broadcast station owned and operated by Swarthmore College. WSRN's frequency is 91.5 MHz , and it has a directional antenna pointing northwest and broadcasts within a 22 mile radius to the College, the Ville, and the local community. A founding member of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System, WSRN is the second oldest continually operating college radio station in the country and celebrated its 50th anniversary in 1990.

WSRN is the largest organization on campus with 120 ac tive participants each semester. About 100 of these are DJ's who produce their own scheduled music and talk shows. In previous years, shows have had names such as Smooth With The Roughness and The Jazz Thing. This spring, WSRN sponsored Worthstock, an event which brought several local and student bands together for a day of sun, fun, and music.

International Club

The International Club provides a specific social forum which allows students from different backgrounds to share their unique cultural experiences. As its membership includes students of European, Asian, and African descent, the International Club expresses the diversity present in the Swarthmore community. This spring, the International Club sponsored the International Evening (see right) in which students shared both their heritage and their talents through singing, dancing, dramatic reading, and cooking.

espite the social activism displayed by many Swatties, critics still claim that Swarthmore students lead sheltered lives. This semester, a taste of the "real world" came to Swat.

In response to racist and homophobic graffiti seen on campus, students took action. Black students staged a silent protest outside the Admissions Office. Later, students of all colors and creeds banded together denouncing all forms of hate speech.

SASS

SASS is a cultural, educational, political, and social organization which coordinates activities and programs which contribute to greater understanding of the AfricanDiasporan experience. On a cultural and educational level, SASS sponsors forums, poetry readings, and lectures. SASS is an axtive political voice on campus concerning Pan-African issues. Socially, SASS conducts various activities ranging from group outings and parties to peer support and discussions, thus creating a more cohesive Black student community which can equally celebrate both its unity and diversity.

SASA

SASA promotes programs which will enrich the experiences of all Swarthmore students by fostering a greater awareness of Africa and African issues. In the fall, SASA held its annual African fair which included art exhibitions, guest speakers, food, music, and dance. On an academic front, SASA is dedicated to increasing the African presence at Swathmore. To this end, SASA encourages stronger relationships between itself and other students of color, study-abroad programs in African nations and an increase in the pool of African applicants to Swarthmore.

RUACH

Ruach, the Jewish student organization at Swarthmore, offers a sense of community and connection to its members. To develop understanding and participation in Jewish life, Ruach - the Hebrew word for "spirit" - sponsors lectures and discussions with leading Jewish scholars and personalities, study groups, films, parties, Purim, Shabbat and holiday services. Recognizing its bond with Jews throughout the world, Ruach also provides information on programs dealing with Israel, the Student Struggle for Soviet Jewry and Project Chaver.

LBGA

The LBGA, formerly Action Les-BGay, is the political action and awareness outreach branch of the $\mathrm{Bi}-$ sexual, Gay, and Lesbian Alliance. The group is involved in a variety of political, cultural, and social activities throughout the academic year. These activities include awareness weeks, movies, speakers, open meetings, and the Sager Symposium. In 1992, the LBGA was instrumental in the creation process off the Intercultural Center where it, along with SAO and HOLA, now has its offices.

The Swarthmore Asian Organization is a support group for Swarthmore's Asian/Asian-American community and explores Pan-Asian issues and cultures. SAO sponsors guest lecturers, films, and theatrical productions to sensitize the campus to the concerns of Asian peoples. SAO members also meet in social settings such as parties and weekly dinners. One of three organizations which has headquarters in the Intercultural Center, SAO works to build stronger coalitions with members of other minority groups.

HOLA

Founded in 1989, HOLA exists to provide academic and cultural support for Latino students. Along with SAO and LBGA, HOLA is based in the Intercultural Center. The goal of HOLA is straight-forward: to enhance the Swarthmore College community by sharing aspects of many different Latin American cultures.

Fencing Club

Vertigo-Go

Founded in 1989, Vertigo-Go was the brainchild of Karen Arndt and Gail Lerner. The members of this improvisational comedy group meet twice weekly to refine their technique by playing games which help them to refine their technique. Vertigo-Go routinely performs on campus each semester and regularly participates in the National Comedy Festival at Skidmore College.

Swarming Earthworms

The Swarming Earthworms are Swarthmore's resident Ultimate Frisbee team. Often seen flinging discs on Mertz Lawn, the "Worms" are dedicated to mastering the fine art of frisbee. The team participates in intrasquad competition as well as in intercollegiate matches and tournaments.

Aikido Club

SCCS

The Swarthmore College Computer Society is a forum where students discuss computer topics ranging from ethics and security to networking and interfaces. The society maintains a number of resources in the Community Resource Center in Parrish Hall. As operators of the College's "raptor" communications network, the SCCS volunteers its time answering questions from and trouble shooting problems for students. The society often sees the newest technology long before others students do. This spring, they were among the first students to have access to the new Power Macintosh. Membership is open to any student with an interest in computers.

Amos J. Peaslee Debate Society

The Swarthmore College Debate Society, funded by a grant from Amos J. Peaslee '07, offers students a chance to develop their reasoning and rhetorical skills. Society members attend parliamentary debate tournaments. The dialogue is often extemporaneous with an emphasis on wit and logic.

Writing Associates Program

The Writing Associates Program serve a valuable role in the academic community. Though many are already good writers, new Writing Associates (WA's) must take a special English course as part of their job requirement. For most courses at Swarthmore College, the Program assigns one or two WA's to each faculty member in order to lend them assistance regarding students' written work. Often, faculty members require students to meet with WA's at least once before submitting final drafts of papers. As a result, instructors believe that students will turn in more polished work. The WA's do not actually grade papers. Rather, they serve as consultants, offering comments on structure and substance. The WA program offers a variety of options ranging from Satellite WA's, who travel from dorm to dorm, to conducting a Writing Center five nights a week in the basement of Trotter Hall.

TBL

TBL was founded in 1937 in honor of Richard Hertz, a philanthropic automobile manufacturer who died in a tragic ballooning accident. The Club's primary purpose is to promote the safe use of household products and to provide the community with easy to prepare meal plans. 57 years later, TBL is still going strong.

The Phoenix

Founded in 1881, the Phoenix is Swarthmore's weekl newspaper. Along with the Halcyon, the Phoenix is th most visible student-run publication. Delivered each Frida afternoon, it contains campus and national news stories, o ed pieces, sports reports and more. The Phoenix editor-ir chief(s) is elected by the staff at the end of each semester.

Published on an occasional basis, Spike magazine i Swarthmore's newest publication. Recent issues of this hu mor magazine have included interviews with Tarble an Physical Plant employees and the ever-popular "Haikus Hate."
Perspective magazine is published once each semester an contains features which provide greater insight into the ar tivities of the Swarthmore student body.

Willets Dormitory

Whether you lived in Mertz, Willets, Wharton, or the Lodges, your dorm experiences probably reflected your daily Swat Life. When students escape from work, they often look to their hall for fun whether in the form of late-night conversations or hall-wide study breaks. As a tribute to hall bonding, we present some of the halls from the 1993-94 school year.

Motivation and Growth in Chester (MAGIC) was founded in 1988 as part of a joint effort between the Swarthmore College and Chester communities. Each weekday afternoon, Swathmore students volunteer their time and travel to Chester to tutor elementary school children in math and reading. MAGIC tutors show the children that learning can be fun and encourage them to pursue their own educational interests. MAGIC's goal is to bolster children's self-esteem by helping them achieve academic success.

Children's Literacy Project

The Children's Literary Project runs a weekly program for children ages six through ten at Crozer Library in Chester. Each Saturday morning, Swarthmore students worked one-on-one with the children and alternated between reading aloud and listening in order to help the children improve their reading skills. The goal of the Project is to encourage the children to engage in free reading and creative writing. In the past, a grant from the Swarthmore Foundation enabled the Project to compile a collection of short stories written by both Swathmore students and the children in the program.

Pro-Choice Task Force

Debates over the morality and legality of abortion have caused cleavages in the Swarthmore community as well as society in general. Student organizations representing each side of the issue have made their positions known to the college community and informal anonymous debate, though not necessarily between members of the two groups, has occurred on Parrish Walls.

The rise of the Pro-Life Activist group on campus is relatively new and its organized activities are relatively unknown. However, the Pro-Choice Task Force has been in existence since 1985. The Task Force's primary interest has been to champion the right to receive and the continued availability of safe and legal abortions. To this end, members of the Task Force participate in protests and marches, sponsor guest lecturers, and volunteer at abortion clinics where they escort women past anti-abortion protesters.

Pro-Life Activists

SHIP

Serving the Homeless in Philadelphia (SHIP) is a student organization whose purpose is to broaden awareness of the homeless situation through activism. SHIP volunteers attempt to physically and emotionally bolster the self-worth of homeless people by distributing food, clothing, and blankets and engaging them in one-onone conversations. SHIP promotes basic human interaction as it helps to diminish the isolation and personal devaluing which society forces the homeless to endure.

Amnesty International

The Swarthmore Chapter of Amnesty International has the same goal as its parent organization; to protect human rights around the world. The group works on behalf of prisoners of conscience (those who have been imprisoned for their beliefs) and the death penalty. This year, Amnesty International deepened campus awareness by waging weekly letter writing campaigns, holding fundraisers, and introducing guest lecturers during the annual Rights of Spring.

El Salvador Delegation

Greek life at Swathmore was active during this 1993-1994 school year. Currently, there are two fraternities on campus: Delta Upsilon and Phi Omicron Psi. Both enjoyed stable core memberships and contributed to the social life on campus.

Delta Upsilon, the larger and more active of the two, promoted a Big Brother/Big Sister Day for fatherless children, journeyed to local churches to assist the Shepherd's Place Dignity Program for the Homeless, and sponsored a basketball tournament to aid a shelter for battered children.

This year, a sorority joined Swarthmore's modest Frat Row. Beta Omega Delta, a clandestine society based in Parrish Hall, mysteriously surfaced. Perhaps the only thing more mysterious than their arrival was the nature of their activities. However, the ladies of B.O.D. may disappear as quietly as they appeared as eleven of the twelve sorors are graduating seniors.

Food is an important part of Swat Life. Busy students usually dine at Essie Mae's. Those Swatties with more time choose Sharples Dining Hall which offers more culinary variety.

Sixteen Feet

Founded in 1981, Sixteen Feet is Swarthmore's oldest male a-capella group. They have toured the East Coast and have been heard all over the world, courtest of CBS Television. This year, the Feet increased their audience as they recorded a new album, "Something's Afoot." This year's activities were highlighted by performances at Brown and UPenn, weeknight post-rehearsal Bell Tower sings, impromptu "Happy Birthday" singing telegrams, and performances at both the Fall and Spring Jamborees. Plaid shirts, bare feet, cheesy introductions, and ad-lib humor mark Sixteen Feet's contributions to the Swarthmore College musical tradition.

Aco-ed a-capella group, Mixed Company's musical versatility ranges from pop music to disco to folk ballads to jazz. Mixed Company takes extreme pleasure in performing and they do so as much as their time will allow. This year, their performance schedule included off-campus shows in the Ville, visits to neighboring colleges, and oncamus performances in the fall and Spring Jamborees.

= BCC Senior Dinner

This summer, the nation celebrates the 25 th anniversary of Woodstock. This May, WSRN 91.5 FM sponsored Worthstock, a beautiful day for beverages, bands and relaxation. After all, isn't that what Swat's all about?

Graduation. Commencement. Closing ceremonies. No matter what it's called, its significance does not change; it marks the final transition from adolescence to adulthood. On May 30, 1994, the members of the Class of 1994 took part in this traditional rite of passage as their friends and families looked on.

Sultans of Swat

A crew by any other name... During my four years here at Swat, I was very fortunate to belong to each of the above groups. They weren't formal organizations but each group played an important role in my collegiate life. The first group became my first friends as we met Swarthmore head on. The second represents one of my closest friendships. The third group made my senior year a memorable one. And the fourth group was perhaps the greatest softball team ever assembled at Swarthmore College. We don't need T-shirts to prove it. I want to take this time (and space) to bid a fond farewell to the members of these groups and those other seniors (e.g. SSK) whom I had the privilege of calling my friends.

Good Luck and Keep in Touch,

Rob Utley
